How it Works

After we receive your order, you'll receive a welcome packet containing a season calendar and ticket request forms. Throughout the season, we will email you reminders with booking deadlines for each show. You can book your tickets via our new subscriber telephone hotline, by email, or online.

Note: The deadline to reserve seats in our premium subscriber seating section is the date of the first performance for each show. After the first performance, unbooked premium seats are made available to the general public. Subscribers requesting tickets or exchanges after the deadline will be placed into the best available seats, but ticket availability is not guaranteed.

New for 2008-2009 Season!
